

CIVIC ENGAGEMENT

TABLE TALK

Who is someone you think is a community hero? What makes them a hero?

Many people—firefighters, teachers, coaches, park rangers, nurses and supermarket clerks—serve their communities every day. What is something you can do to support them?

If you had to write a speech for school or work about one thing you'd like to do to support your community, what would you talk about?

Use three words to describe your family values. What community programs or volunteer opportunities support those values?

What are some ways you support your school and community?

If you could be the mayor for a day, what is one problem in our neighborhood that you'd want to help with?

Have you ever made a friend while volunteering?

Listening and learning are important to being active within your community. Is there a problem that you've changed your mind about after learning more?

When it comes to volunteering, would you rather use your hands (like cleaning up a stream) OR use your head (like designing a flier)?

Describe a time when your help made a difference to someone. How did that make you feel?

Volunteering is not the only way to make an impact within your community.

Consider donating, seeking employment in specific areas you're passionate about, and using your voice to advocate for causes.

If you could make one rule that everyone in the world had to follow to make it better, what would that rule be?

What has been the most memorable experience you've had volunteering or helping others?

Not every act of volunteering has to be huge. What is one small action you can do today to help someone within your community?

Imagine you are the "Captain of the Lunch Table" at school. What would you do to make sure that your classmates have a great meal?

Have you ever donated money, food, or gifts to a group? Why did you donate to that group?

If you were a superhero helping the world, what would your superpower be? How could this help others?

What do you think servant leadership is? Do you know of any servant leaders?
