BREAKOUT SESSIONS

1) Building an Asset Protection Brand
   Changing culture and achieving results begin by re-branding your department. A modern approach to influencing your entire organization through awareness, certification and orientation. Connect with associates at every level to ignite prescribed behaviors and transform your departments desired perception into a reality.

   Mike Limauro, Vice President, Asset Protection, Weis Markets, Inc.
   Ric Agostini, Vice President, Client Services, Alchemy Systems

2) The Next Era of Payment Technology: Evaluating Security & Risk
   Shopper payments have dramatically shifted from cash and check to card-based transactions in the last decade. With the introduction of Apple Pay and Merchant Customer Exchange (MCX), payment technology is continuing to evolve with mobile solutions, EMV technology, and ACH transactions. How does the changes in payments solve existing security/risk problems? What new security/risk problems should we be prepared for with these new payment technologies?

   John Guenther, Director, Loss Prevention, Heinen’s Fine Foods, Inc.
   Shawn Princell, Vice President, Cash Flow Solutions
   Annette Higgins, AAP, Vice-President of Operations and Development, Cash Flow Solutions

3) Mitigating Diverter Risk
   Learn why companies use diverters for legitimate purposes, how counterfeit and/or stolen product can get mixed with legitimate diverter product, and most importantly what companies can do to mitigate their exposure to risk.

   Tony Sheppard, National Manager, Organized Retail Crime Unit, CVS Caremark Corporation

4) Is It Contagious?? How infectious disease can send hundreds to the hospital and bankrupt your business.
   This session will review the significant risk of infectious disease to retailers, their employees and their customers. We will review the most common type of infectious disease exposures and identify how these diseases can result in claimed illnesses, deaths and negatively impact your brand. Our panel of experts will also review the tactics and best practices to handle these events successfully.

   Libby Christman, Vice President, Risk Management, Ahold USA(moderator)
   Jo Anne Smith, Occupational Health Specialist, Publix Super Markets, Inc.
5) You Can’t Talk Accidents Away!
Sponsored by: Shoes for Crews
Join us for a very interactive presentation about how to turn traditional safety communication into a process to identify causes, develop task based solutions, execute those tasks and measure the results. It starts with giving ownership to the end-users. During this presentation, participants will be asked to put themselves in the place of the employees in the stores. A series of give and take exercises will gradually bring the whole process together in what has produced very positive results by transforming talk into actions.

Wayne "Bo" Blauert, Store Operations Safety Manager, Brookshire Grocery Company

Christine Newman, Director of Risk Management, United Supermarkets, LLC

2:30 p.m. – 3:45 p.m. BREAKOUT SESSIONS

1) Get A Harvard Education For Free
What if you were told that you could take classes at Harvard, MIT, and Cal Berkley over the internet for free? This is not just about watching lecture videos on YouTube; it’s about real-life participation and grading in order to complete a course. Don’t let your professional development become dependent on a financial budget. Join your peers to discover how to remove all of the barriers to life-long learning.

Adam Smith, CFI Senior Regional Asset Protection Manager, Bi-Lo Holdings, LLC

2) The Breach, The Fallout, and Your Response
We all must accept that when it comes to your company experiencing a data breach it is not a matter of “if” but “when.” Is your team ready to handle all of the technical, operational, and strategic challenges associated with a breach? Exercising and testing your incident response plan is one of the most critical leading indicators to how painless or painful a breach will be for your company.

Vince Crisler, Partner, Fortalice Solutions, LLC

Alexis Lavi, Cyber Security and Risk Consultant, Fortalice Solutions, LLC

Matt Sickbert, Cyber Security Program Manager, Fortalice Solutions, LLC

Participants will be able to ask questions on specific problem areas, and share their own experiences on Shrink Reduction practices that have worked in their companies.

Gary Geitter, Director, Asset Protection, Tops Markets LLC
J. Ed Van Fleet, Vice President, Corporate Asset Protection, Brookshire Grocery Company

4) The Environmental Balance Sheet: “Name out and Earnings in”

Today’s environmental landscape can expose your company to massive environmental fines, lengthy and costly court cases, and adverse publicity that can impact brand reputation. We’ve got the information you need to understand and manage your hazardous waste exposures. Our expert panel will share basic hazardous waste requirements, approaches to complying, sustainable opportunities, and ideas for minimizing expenses. Ever wonder what products your company handles that could be hazardous waste? You’ll be amazed at the types and quantities of household-related items your company sells, and others used to maintain your operations that require special handling/disposal. Some are completely unexpected and you’ll hear about one that’s an edible product that contains a chemical also used in rocket engines.

Peg Chandler, Environmental Compliance Manager, The Kroger CO.
Dale Peleski, Regional Director, Risk Control, Supply Chain, SUPERVALU INC.
Scott DeMuth, Vice President, Business Development, g2 revolution LLC

5) Job Demand Profiles: That’s Not My Job!

Have you ever wondered if a new-hire truly understands what is expected of them when they start working for your company? Or have you made a ‘guess’ if an incumbent worker can transfer to another job or rotate to another department and work safely and successfully? Do you find yourself in the uncomfortable position of trying to explain or defend the physical demand levels of your job in return-to-work situations? If ‘yes’ is the answer to any of the above questions, you will want to learn about how well documented, user friendly, up-to-date Job Demand Profiles can make new-hire onboarding as well managing your workforce much easier when you define the nature of your jobs. This session will highlight the key steps needed to obtain and maintain well documented job demand profiles and the situations where these reports can be of significant decision support help.

Randy Trzeciak, Senior Member of the technical staff for the Software Engineering Institute’s (SEI) CERT Program at Carnegie Mellon University
Vince Crisler, Partner, Fortalice Solutions, LLC

4:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
The Intersection between OSHA and Traditional Labor
Sponsored by: Shoes for Crews
Please join us for this fast-paced session addressing OSHA recordkeeping, whistleblower complaints and union organizing, and learn about how they fit together. Given its recent regulatory proposals, OSHA seems to be working hand-in-hand with labor unions and union organizers. OSHA proposes making OSHA 300 Logs and OSHA 301 forms publicly available on its website. Who benefits? Union organizers will definitely benefit from having access to this information. Also, safety whistleblower complaints are becoming increasingly common. An employee alleging discipline or termination for complaining about safety has only has 30 days to file a complaint. OSHA has decided that time period is too short, and has teamed up with the National Labor Relations Board to educate employees about other complaints they can file. Specifically, OSHA now tells employees that file their complaints too late to contact the NLRB and file an unfair labor practice. What does this all of this mean for your operation?

11:15 a.m. – 12:15 p.m. Leading People to Safety: Design your Safety and Asset Protection Platform as a Blueprint for Evolution
Think differently! Forget about “outside of the box” thinking when it comes to safety and asset protection. Instead, expand the dimensions of the box and think differently inside of the box! Everyone in your organization can help change safety practices, protect assets and reduce painful and costly injuries by changing their idea of what they can do as an individual, as a company, and their idea of themselves. Avoid falling into the trap that safety doesn’t matter until it does! You can’t inspire your way to safety / zero injuries; safe working practices are not an accident. They are the result of actions, willing participants, effective leadership and walking the talk. Better yet, you don’t have to be chained to historical rules of safety and asset protection. Be more effective today - and tomorrow - by creating a safety strategy that is disruptive and adaptive. Join us to learn how you can make your safety and asset protection efforts matter, make them simple, make them stick and definitely make them pay!

2:30 p.m. – 3:30 p.m.  BREAKOUT SESSIONS

1) Data Analytics: Are You where You Need To Be?
“Big Data” has been the buzz word in the business community for a number of years with promises of providing better customer understanding, improved margins, profitability and better understanding of risk and loss. It’s a great promise, but not that many business’s or Asset Protection teams have achieved that goal! Why not? This discussion covers what “Big Data”/ Data Analytics looks like when it’s working, barriers to achieving this goal and a basic outline of how to start the journey.

Bill Titus, Managing Director, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP
Suni Shamapande, Director, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP

2) Domestic Violence & Stalking - Mitigating its Impact on your Organization
Intimate partner violence is pervasive…affecting now 1 in 3 women in this country. Recent reports indicate that intimate partner violence has already entrenched itself in every mid to moderate-size company at a cost of over $4 billion per year in lost productivity, increased healthcare costs, and absenteeism. Many times, when extreme violence occurs in a workplace, it’s originates from a domestic violence relationship. Learn how to recognize the signs, understand the common myths, the full range of impact on your organization, options for mitigating the threat and ways to help victims get the support they need.

Dave Benson, Chief Operating Officer, Center for Personal Protection and Safety

3) How 'bout a burger and fries with that?
Join us for an interesting discussion about one of Delhaize America’s newest concepts, Hannaford-To-Go. Hannaford-To-Go (HTG) allows customers to order their grocery needs on-line and have them delivered to their car for a quick and convenient shopping experience. Unfortunately, customer-centric processes do not always equate to ease when addressing potential loss and liability risks. Our presenters will discuss their challenges including physical security considerations, legalities of alcohol/tobacco sales in a ‘carhop’ environment and theft counter-measures.

John Gay, Manager, LP Operations, Delhaize America
Joe Darnell, Manager, Loss Prevention Administration, Delhaize America

4) 7 Mistakes of Frequently Sued Employers – Workers’ Compensation Edition
As employers, are you getting tired of seeing your rates go up and up? Well, this segment is designed to help keep you out of unnecessary and costly workers’ compensation litigation and can also help attorneys litigate your workers’ compensation claims in a way that can lead to more reasonable settlements and trial awards. It’s time to get ahead of the curve.

David L. Jimenez, Partner, Floyd, Skeran & Kelly, LLP
5) Injury Elimination Through Innovation
Sponsored by: Shoes for Crews

“You’ve just got to be careful” or, “pay attention”. This is often how people approach injury reduction; it’s easy, but not very effective. Awareness will only get you so far. Injury Elimination Through Innovation (a.k.a., Prevention Through Design) is an effective injury prevention approach that focuses on eliminating the potential for injury at the source, as well as the requirement to “pay attention”. Let's make it easier for the end user to be safe. Just because a piece of equipment, or a process, is made or performed the same way as all the others in the market, or a building or parking lot design is “up to code”, it doesn’t mean we can’t improve it. A little intuition and innovation can greatly improve functionality, paving the way for good work habits and techniques that will keep your best workers at work and productive for the long haul. In a lot of cases, collaboration with the suppliers, process engineers, facility designers or manufacturers will result in mutual benefit – reduced injuries for you, reduced equipment damage, and a better design/product for them!

Everything is a Remix!
Nothing is truly original. From Bob Dylan to Steve Jobs, our most celebrated creators borrow, steal and transform. Kirby Ferguson, creator of the popular web video series Everything is a Remix and TEDTalk speaker, believes that a better way to conceive of creativity is as a patchwork “remix” born from the ideas of others—copied, transformed, and combined. What we see as new creations only take root and grow once the ground has been prepared by others who have come before. What do you believe? Join us and see.
